DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claim 11 is objected to because of the following informalities: In line 3, no antecedent basis could be found for "the expandable element". Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1,4,7,8,14 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Mocivnik et al

The applied reference has a common inventor with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Mocivnik discloses a method and device for drilling. A hole in soil or rock is drilled by use of impact drilling or rotary percussion drilling. An anchorage assembly 6 is fixed in the hole. Drill rod 3 carries bit 1. A jacket tube 6 surrounds the drill rod in a spaced manner. The jacket tube has openings in the metal jackets 11 and 12. These openings have a longitudinal dimension and are considered a longitudinal slot. The jacket 6 is at least partially introduced in substantial abutment on the drill hole during drilling. As to claim 4, the jacket 6 is introduced by exerting a tensile stress via a connection with the drill bit. As to claim 7, a curing mass is introduced into the jacket upon completion of the bore. As to claim 8, the openings extend substantially in the longitudinal direction. As to claim 14, jacket tube 6 is fixed to an impact shoe 5. As to claim 15, the jacket is made from metal.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2,3,5,6,9-13,16 and 17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
